There's Pleasure in Traveling to New York and New England

Personal comfort and service are the main es-sentials in traveling. You get both on Baltimore

If you are going to New York or New England excellent service of the Baltimore & Ohio is one of the pleasantest features of the journey.

All of the eight trains from Washington to New York have splendid coaches and Pullman cars, with dining cars at dining hours. Four of these trains have Observation Cars—the "Royal Special," the "Interstate Special," the "Royal Limited," and the "Chicago-New York Limited."

The Observation Cars are especially delightful, as the route is open and the scenery beautiful. The electric tunnel under Baltimore is practically free noke and gases.

At New York you have a choice of surface terminals in the open air.

Liberty Street Terminal, down town, is next Liberty Street Terminal, down town, is next door to the new West Shore ferry, consequently no expensive transfer is necessary for West Point, Newburgh, Albany, and other points on Hudson River. The piers of the Fall River Line and Metropolitan Steamship Line for Boston are within short walking distance, as are also the piers of the Providence and New Haven Lines.

Brooklyn is reached quickest via Liberty Street and the Subway.

The 23d Street Terminal, uptown, is next door to the Anchor, American, White Star, Cunard, and other important Atlantic Ocean Steamship Lines. The North German Lloyd and Hamburg-American Lines in Hoboken are reached by ferry from 23d Street terminal. Street terminal.

The ferry ride up the Hudson River from Jersey City to either of these terminals undoubtedly affords the most comfortable and attractive entrance to New York in summer or winter.
